this is not a formal announcement.

Dear Valued NAT Customer,

We would like to take a moment to update you on transition planning with respect to the common re-branding of Cobham Plc owned companies worldwide, particularly our plans at Northern Airborne Technology Ltd. (NAT).

Our transition activities were initiated in early February, 2009. The first external changes you will see are the use of the Cobham logo and name on our marketing materials including business cards, telephone greetings, email signatures, advertisements, websites, building signage, etc. This change is part of Cobham's initiative to present a single unified brand and identity.

As part of the Cobham Avionics Strategic Business Unit, within the Cobham Avionics & Surveillance Division, NAT will begin to be referred to informally as "Cobham Avionics, Kelowna". This approach will also apply to NAT Seattle Inc. (transitioning as "Cobham Avionics, Bothell"), and Wulfsberg Electronics (transitioning as "Cobham Avionics, Prescott").

During this transition it is critical that we avoid confusing customers, suppliers, and other important parties. In this regard, all formal business transactions must continue to be executed with the existing registered business organizations, that being Northern Airborne Technology Ltd., NAT Seattle Inc., and Wulfsberg Electronics, respectively. This shall be maintained until all required steps in the transition are known and completed. Please remember: DO NOT change any of our accounts within your system(s) until you receive an official notification/request from us to do so.

In the meantime, you will continue to see informal changes including the use of statements such as "Northern Airborne Technology Ltd. doing business as Cobham Avionics" as we move forward with the marketing side of the transition. We will continue to keep you informed on our progress with respect to any formal name changes, integration of resources and facilities including the manufacture, test, and release of products to meet your needs. Our new website reference is www.cobham.com/avionics.

Thank you again for your patience and understanding during this time of change. As always, if you have any concerns or questions please let us know.

Best regards,

John Payne
General Manager
